THE NATIONAL DAY OF PRAYER

Thursday, May 6 is the National Day of Prayer. This day of prayer has been significant in American History. In 1952, President Truman signed into law for the President to call for a day of Prayer once every year. In 1988, Congress passed a law, signed by President Ronald Reagan, that the first Thursday of May would be the annual National Day of Prayer.

This special day gives us an opportunity to join with other Christians across the country to pray for God's leadership in our nation. If there was ever a time for the need of prayer in our nation it is today. We are living in a turbulent time with much division in America. There are attempts by culture to erode and even attack Christian values.

Let us pray for a great awakening and revival in the United States of America.
